

WOMAN OF THE WEEK

MARGARET AMBROSE

The Melbourne-based writer's first book, How to be French, will be published next month. With a trip planned to France for the millennium, she began taking French lessons. For Margaret, Paris was a place where dreams were reality and where beauty, elegance and style were the ultimate ambition. Paris was a long way from her routine life in Melbourne. Among other things, How to be French is a captivating story about how your life can change when you follow your dreams.
